MORE ROM RS OF MORGAN'S RETURN. -The Circinnati Commsicial has a report from the Superintendent of the Ken ucky Central railroad that he has intelligence of the most poslive character leading him to believe that another rebel rail into Kentucky is scon to be, if not already, commonesd. Morgan and Van Dorn are to be the isaders in the enterprise, which they propose shall entirely throw into the shads the recent great raid. These leaders have been for some time making the necessary preparations in Tencessee, and have a fice of ten or twelve lish workly journals, makes the following thousand man. With these they will again push rapidly forward, occupying the various cities that lie in their ronte, plunderieg, gainlog additional recrnits, taking hores, rich stores, destro ing the rallroad bridges, if possible, to obtain entirs controi of the State of K-uincky, and transfer mili tary operations to the Olio tiver. Humphrey Marshall, in the eastern part of the State, is expected to co operate with them. The recent oc copation of Burksville, in Cumberland county, Ly a portion of Morgan's force, is the commencement of the work

A CHICAGO BANKER CAPIURED .- A fow weeks sicce Lazarns Silverman, Eq., a well-known hanker doing tu iness in Chicago, laft for Memphis with the avowed purposa of purchasing cot ton. Mr. Silverman carried with him nearly $30,000 in gold, with which he hoped to drive such bargains with the needy Southron as shoeld uet him an amount sefficient to remunerate him for the risk incurred. The bank or went to Meinphie, and while the country to the rear of that city was atili half-sur jugated, trusting to his familiarity with the people and the fact that he was families of Tencesses, he imprudently ventured beyond our lines, and to k up bls ab dewith a planter of decided "Union proclivities," and was in a fair way to realize a small fortune by exchanging the gold for the stapis. But, aia! the banker's visiona of wealth were destined to variable the mist before the summer's sun. His "Union" friend proved to be lut the confidence of Jeff Thompson's cuarillas, and notified them of Jeff Thompson's guarillas, and notified them of the presence of his Northern friend. One fine morning a thioving band of forty came galloping moved the frightful desaster of Buil Run by np the lawn leading to the mansion of the plan tar-and laid violent hands on Blr. Silverman and his bag of gold. The banker is now etudying political ecoeomy in the npper-story of a cutton factory in Dixle, and his hard carned dottars have gone to swell the coffers of the boous Confederacy

CAMP DOUGLAS PRISONERS RETAKEN .- Three prisoners of those who iscalled from Camp Douglae during the recent emeute were taken back or Saturday evening. The l'ribune says they had enccorded in making their way to near Lafayette, Ind, undiscovered, hy taking a bee line across the swampe and prairies and avoiding the travelled roads except after nightfull, when, this kiew themselves safe from pursuit, they relaxed their vigilance and took to the turepikes. They mat a farmer and da ired to ride, which was randily accorded. F.om some remarks dropped in conversation, the farmer mistrusted they were sacapad prisoners and drove them to Col. Miller's head quarters at Lifayetie and surrendered them to that efficer. By him they were sent to Camp Morton, Indianaporis, whence they were brought te Comp Douglas. But four or five of the twenty five who excaped are now at large, and

THE NEW COMET .- The posi lon of the new comet, discovated at the Cambridge Observatory en the 18 h nit., is rearly on a line joining the bright and first magnitude star Capella with the North star, and two thirds of the distance from Capella to the North star. Capalla can be seen at 11% P. M., in the northeast, near the horizon The comet is rapidly approaching, is lacrossing in brilliancy, and will soon be readily seen by ail. Its tail appeared to the comet-seeker quite one and a half degrees in length, the comet itself four minntes of a dagrao. Of course at this time the comet does not act, either night or day, and hy the revolution of the earth it appears to move around the North star like the constaliation of the Dipper or the Ursa Major, the tail thus pointing as different times of the ever log to the different points of the compass—east, west, &c.

FEDERAL PRISONERS HELD AS HOSTAGES -Capt. Drew, of Vermont, writes from Salisbnry, N. C., under date of July 15, that there were then 133 officare confined there. He says 1 "A few days ago all the captains wers required to draw iots to see who should be 'hostages' for two Confederate captains, taken by Fremont and threatened to be hnng. The lots fell on Capts George Austin, Kentucky, and T. O'Mara, New York. They are in close confinement. HOW TO IMPROVE A BADLY RUN FARM -The first a demost important point to be considered and attended to, is a general change of Most farms that are run oc been under a long course of cripping with one wheat, rve, barler or over-ore of three grains generally being made a leading or p; in wheat sections, it is wheat, in oth r sections, cars And although rve and barley are raised to ma extent, yet a large portion of badly run iand has been mainly cropped with wheat or oa's: while these crops are calculated to have as bad eff co on land, and to give t s poor other crope; though in reality it may not base very badly run down for other crops, hesides wheat and oars. Again, such land is generally not ploubled more than four or five inches deep; consequently, though the land may ap near to be worn ont, yet in reality it is only hadly run to that death. Hence a chance of erops, and deep and thorough cultivation, may e experted to produce excellent results This may be illustrated by relating a little f my experience. (And here let me say, I n these remarks, that I do not consider war I commence farming on a small pleon that had been let to neighboring f rmer -- no one ro iling on the piece for many years before is ame into my hands. I invo aiso pursuci a similar couor change of crops on my present farm (with was considerably rnn down) with very satis weny reaults. There are many similar instances of the great benefit of a change of crops, that have tor only one or too. One is in regard to a piece of rather poor hemlock land, that, as it was not considered very good wheat land, and been kept in spring crops some years, and Ha said he 'did not expect much wheat, as i was not wheat iand, and had been a g ng ln spring crops some tire and wanted ris; hat in order to get it in a good condition for m-adow, and we'l stelled, he was going to sun m r follow and sow it to wheat." Y t that field gave 30 hoshels per acre, which was an extra cr p for that kind flard. Agaio, clover can on ma in a very profitable crop, us I hope to show when writing more in detail in regard to its cultivation. Now for these reasons, and many more, some of which may be g ven an other time, clover should be the leading crop n bringing up land. Next to clover I consider coin the hest cror grow in improving the soil. The reason for this opinion can enally be made apparent to all, in this way. Who ever hard of land bring run down where clover and corn were the principal crops; and these crops, made good by thorough and deep cultivation and manurng, were mostly consumed on the farm, as, or course, they should be? Such cases mus exceedingly rare, if, indeed, there are any. one True, run down land will not continue to produ e as good crops for any considerable ength o' time after n change as it does at first. Yet by raising cover and corn for the both on the farm, the land may be constantly mproving, and the crops after the first and ioually growing better. It is true that com ong time will on most sails run down the But when it is grown only once in four erytoing in reintion to the crop well managed be general effect and result will be altogether principal crops, yet there should he some kind f grain sown after corn to seed down wito. What this should be may perhaps be bast determined in each particular section, regard being had not only to what would be likely to neceed best, but also to the kind of grain that clover will take the best with, it being always uportant to gst a good seeding. In considering the best way to improve a hadry run farm, I have not alluded to undertraining, for the reason that a man commence ing on such a farin, more or less in debt, will have but it tla means or inclination to do anyhuy a farm that may be improved without it Sull there may be instances where it will be best to huy land that needs underdraining. In such cases due allowance should be made for it in purchasing, and sufficient money retained to pay at least some portion of the expense.

As good and deep entitivation and manuring, which should include a liberal use of plaster and a h s, have been frequently alluded to, it will not be necessary, in concluding, to do more than merely state that while they are very imlaid without giving both the strictest attention cropping and manner of cultivation will give good crops on the start; so there crops hould amount of mauu: c that it may b. practical t make, thus making soid on p. add larg ly to the amount of manure, which in turn will add to the amount of crops, and this course fol a g. of pro incure farm. DLIVER LUCAS, Lucal Editor and Reputter SATURDAY, AUGUST 9 1862

Enlistments are going on gloriously in Kentucky. Colonels Shackleford and Bristow have raised fourteen companies, and one of significantly: their Majors writes from Danville that he will have eight companies from that section. Col. Jacob has been equally succes ful, and his regiment is about fu'll with as fine a set of men as ever drew ewerd. Col. Tevis has set to work in carnest, and we hope that Lousville will in a short time give him n thousand men. Our State has niready obtained her quota under the first call for 300 000, and we think she will be able to fill under the second call without any resort to drafting. We have every cause for clation, as our fellow-citizens teem determined to show that Kentucky has lost none of her chivalry; but, it will still he the duty of the Legislature to place the State in such a position that its entire defensive force may he hrought isto the field npon any emergency. The act of Congress of July 16, 1862, in providing for a draft, says "the enrolment of the militia shall in all cases include all able-hodied male citizens between the ages of eighteen and forty-five." There can he no exemption hayond these exceptional cases provided for by the Federal laws, and the State Legislature is charged simply with the duty of providing for an enrolment of all persons liable to hear arms. We hope, however, that the zeal and nlacrity of our loyal citizens will render a resort to drafting nanecessary. The Government is doing its duty vigorously, and the people must cocalistments. We ought to have too large a force in the field rather than an insufficient arms, and then, to make the assurance of sucpily not wanting that the Republican leaders nre growing sick of the alliance of the abolitica ists. We think these bappy indications are increasing. We know they nre.

etruck to vindicate and preserve the national

The Albany Evening Journal, perhaps the most influential Republican paper in the State | the impression that the author will prove to of New York, opened recently on the aholi-tionists as follows:

The chief architects of rehellion, before it brokent, avowed that they were aided in their infarnal designs by the nitra sholitionists of the North. This was too true, for without such aid the Sonth could never have been nuited against the Union. But for the incerdiary recommendations which rendared the otherwise asoful Helper book a fire brand, North Carolina could not have been forced out of the Union. And, even now, the nitra abolition press and spaceh-makers are aggravating the horrors they helpad to create, and thus, by pluying ioto the hand; of the Isaders of the reballion, are keeping down the Union man of the South, are reudering re-union difficult, if not impossible.

More recently, the Journal returned to the subject in the following emphatic terms:

subject in the following emphatic terms:

The more than incendiary, the scarcely loss than infernal spirit represented by Mr. Summer in the Senate, Wendell Philips in the Forem, and the Tribunes of the Press, was united the Sucheru People, and now threatens to divide the North! The Speeches, Lecturar, and Fulcinations from these sources have been used by Steession Leaders and Journals to aggressate and intensity Southern hostility. Instead of having, as would long since have been developed, powerful minorities of Union mening the losurgent States, we now see men, womer, and childran banded togethar against us, fighting, as they believe, for all that is hallowed by domestic relations and social ties. The real character of the Rabellion, in the eyea of its victims, has thus been changed. The ambitions, wicked, fratricidal Loadare—Davis, Slidell, Toomba, Mason, &c., &c.—enjoy the savantages of a changed i sue, in which their crime is merged.

The Union Cause has suffered. Its pregress

The Union Cause has suffered. It's progress has been retarded. But it cannot perieli. The people, by whom the Government has been gene rousty and nobly sustained, are called upon for furthar sacrifices. They will again respond. But in the crisis of a rehallion the magnitude of which so few compreheed, the restless and fanatical should be content with the michief they have done. While their policy has doubled the rumber of our enemies, they should not persist in a course which divides and weakens the friends of the Union.

The Springfield Republican, as potent a Rehaving roundly denonneed the abolitionists and heiug roundly taken to task therefor hy a

Mr. Phillips did profess to sustain the Government, for a time, or white he supposed that the constitution would be set aside by the war, but since he has found that the administration but since he has found that the administration cannot be moved from its purpose of adherence to the constitution, and that the control of slavery is likely to he loft with each State after the war, he has returned to his old seditlous style of talk, as any one will see who reads his late Sunday discourse in Boston. The plain fact is that the war has got to be fought through not only without the help of this class of men but against their strenuous efforts to distract and dishearten the people and embarrass the Administration. If, as our correspondent allegee, some republicans and some congressmen are in the same condemnation, it is so much the worse for them, but no hetter for Mr. Paillips.

This is sensible and manly, as is the convince.

This is sensible and manly, as is the equivalent language of our Albany contemporary quoted above. "The restless and fanatical," says the lntter, "should be content with the mischief they have done. While their policy has doubled the number of our enemics, they should not persist in a course which divides and weakens the friends of the Union." This is striking as an admission, and not less striking as an indication. It shows that the controlling minds of the Republican party are nt last beginning to comprehend the rninous tendency of abolition counsels and to grow sick of abolition fellowship. It shows that the Republican leaders are at length disposed to draw the Republican lines on the radical side as well as on the conservative eide and to require the abolitionists to come squarely in or clse stand out visibly in the cold or hoat. It shows that these leaders are generally about to put down their feet in relation to the abolitionists. This certainly is a fair and hopeful showing, and we lain would see it unfolded to the an order for six hundred thousand troops to ntmost. Let it go on. Let these wholesome he levied received with such a thrill of satis-

they sink into insignificance upon either one upon his prey. side or the other. Patriotism concurred with a masterly policy in dictating this course at first; but the dictate was not heeded. We rejoice that it is likely to be heeded at last. The Administration has derived nothing hut weakness from an alliance

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL hat strength from a dissolution of the alliance. We trust the Republican leaders from the President down will honceforth recognize this fact and not upon it. Let the abolitionists slide. The country can afford to lose their support hut cannot afford to retain it. The Springfield Republican is right. "The plain fact is," as the Republican says, "that the war has got to be fought through not only without the help of this class of men had against their strenuous efforts to distract and dehearten the people and embarrass the Admizistration." They should be made to take back seats, and to sit quietly upon them, while of the Southern Confederacy as a proper or a the places they have disgraced are filled by friendly set. That recognition will depend men of larger views and loftier pstriotism, And we confidently predict that this will gencrally huppen. We reckon it as morally certain that our next Congress will be a body of higher conservatism and of clearer patriotism than the last. We should be sorry indeed that England, or any other leading nation, is to helieve the contrary.

> "Who was Juntus?"-Curiosity in respect to this standing question of literary speculation has been raised anew in our country by a statement in one of Thurlow Weed's letters from erable John Taylor, who in 1816 gave n new or to consent that foreign nations should conimpetus to this famous controversy by the puhlication of his "Identity of Junius with a Distinguished Living Character Established," at the close of which Mr. W. wrote home thus

It is row nearly half a century since "Junius" ldeslified" was publi-bed, and although now, as then, nothing has occurred to impeach that letter in which "Junius" says he is the "cole depository (f my own secret, and it will die with me." yet before the present year closes, all doubt time. Besides, as Lord Palmerston has required to provide the present year closes, all doubt time. Besides, as Lord Palmerston has required to provide the present year closes, all doubt time. question as to the anthorship of those letters

This oracular announcement from such a espectable source has naturally given rise to new curiosity ou the question. "The recent assurance of Mr. John Taylor to Thurlow Weed, in London," says the Boston Post, referring to the matter, "that hefore the close of the current year the mystery of the authorship ew fuel to the curiosity which has gathered nostas many senses. He was mean in his hostilhave been unmanly and unjust in many instances. But he wrote the mest polished, stitutional restrictions. energelie, and hrillinnt English of any man of his ngc, and it was an age of great authors. He adopted the cause of the People, against eperate and do their wholo duty in the wny of the crown, the ministry and municipal usurpations. He was, therefore, the darling of the of the old proprietor, John H. Caldwell, People, and the terror of the Government. He whose ability and kindness as a host are so one. When the present requisitions are filled, failed in the ultimate purpose at which he well known and so gratefully remembered by DRAWN AT COVINGTON, KY., AUGUST 8, 1862 aimed; and after a series of some five yesrs thousands scattered in all quarters of this receased to write over that shadow, if not encess doubly secure, the cutire militin force of tirely. He then published a revised edition of should prove a brilliant one, and we do not the nation should be organized as a reserve. It the Letters and dedicated it to the English may not be needed, but it can do no harm to people. In the meantime, we can only ccho the old question, Who was Our Boston contemporary, in confessing that he has "no idea who Mr. Taylor refers to," appears to overlook the fact that Mr. Tayfor is himself one of the most distinguished participants in the Junius controversy, and, furthermore, that he has for nearly half a century been the steady partisan of a single name. Looking at these facts, together with the circumstances under which Mr. Weed made his statement and the tone and manuer of the statement itself, we at least can have little doubt that Mr. Taylor refers to the iedividual of whose claims he has been so persevering a champion. We presume no oue nt all acquainted with the history of the controversy Taylor's man is or at any rate has always been Sir Pnilip Francis. The probability is olved in Mr. Weed's oracular statement. In our opinion, not to heat around the hush, Chatham was Junius, and Francis simply one of Chatham's precious few confidants and accessories in the danger ous game of bearding all the lions in their den. And if Mr. Taylor has any further disclosures on the question to make, we venture to say, whatever inference he may draw from them, that they will in reality sopport this hypothesis. We notice that a passage in the letter of the niece of Dr. Breckinridge which we republished in the Journal of Thursday reflects upon the loyalty of General Ward and suggests indirectly that a suspicion of his loyalty occasioned his relief at Lexington. This passage, written evidently in the carelessness of private epistolary intercourse, not only is utterly erroneous, but does the most cruel injustice to Gen. Ward, whose reputation as a patriot the hreath of suspicion even has never dimmed. He is n putriot above reproach, and t is due to him to say, that, in the estimation of the distinguished gentlemen who shared his counsels at Lexington, he is a soldier equally clear. The assassination had been out his knowledge and successful opposition.

The Nashville Union vary justly pronounces lt one of the most fiendish atrocities of the rebellion. Gen. Robert McCook was in had health, and was np, soms two miles in advance of his command, accompanied by several staff efficars. Not far from Selem they met with a man living by the the party where they could find a suitable camping ground. The party proceeded a short distance, when about one hundred gnerillas rushed out of the woods and made for the amhulance. The horses hecame unmanageable, and Gen. McCook raised himself on his hands to help the driver while in this position a guerilla rede up and sho him through the abdomen. He survived but about twenty-seven henrs. Captain Brocke, of his staff, was taken prisoner; the others escaped. The soldiers, who were greatly infuriated at this most brutal murder of a sick man. proceeded to the plantation of the fellow who had acted as a decoy, and demolished everything or hls premises. They alsn wreaked their fury on the heads of the rehels in the vicinity. The presence of General McCook's remeins in this city last evening gave rise to a fealing of general sorrow. The flags on the Custom-house and other public huildings were placed at half-mast, and the city wore an air of monrning. Thoremeins were of Captain Dillard, and were conveyed to the Galt House, where they were guarded during the night. A committee of citizens appointed by the City Council of Cincinnati arrived by the meilboat last night, and took charge of the body,

Bowling Green, Ky, Aug. 5. Our election passed off quietly yesterday. There were no Southern Coefederate cardidates upon the track, as, under the instructions of General Boyle, I anppose, they saw how utterly preposerons and contemptible it is for a man to esk flice uoder a Government lowards which every ought and feeling of his heart is inimice Very few of our secash friends exercised the dear est light of a white man, as if in their apostasy they had lost that with their other rights. There was considerable interest manifested in the race for the Equity and Criminal Judgeslip, as Judge Green, whose term of effice is just drawing to a close, and who was again a candrawing to a close, and who regarded as not sufficiently decided in his loyelty, by the Union men of the district, who were hold and outspokee in their levalty last summer and fall, end who did not understand and appreciate

DECEASED SOLDIERS .- The following is a lis of tha names of soldiers who died in General Hos-

Angust 8, 1862:

[For the Louisville Journal.]

It is known to the public that in Angust, 1861, W. A. Dudley, Esq., and I were sent to Washington by Governer Mage fin as commissioners from Kentucky, to request the President to remove or disband the troops then concentrating at Comp Dick Rebinson.

An article in the last number of the Danville Review, estitled "The Secssion Coespirecy in Kentucky, 'in undertaking to give an account of the origin and real objects of that mission, is so erroseons in its statemente on that endject, and in a way so injurious to my, as to require from me this public correction. I regret this necessity; the more so because I feel very sure that the eminont gautleman who wrote the article had no disposition to do me personally eny injustice, and tucky, in Scott county, on Surday, Aeguet 17th (18), 1861; thet, according to that plan, this indistinguished was to be cont to Weshington to demand the nccion with those designs.

Now a single statement will show how completely a work of the imagination this is. The Magoflie upon consustation with leading Unio uen as well as with members of his own pur and the commissioners had been selected, and had agreed to act as such before the Scott county meeting was held. The circumstances were these usmediately after the August election it became nown that a military body was coccentrating a amp Dick Robinson. It is admitted by the au this pes', has won the confidence and regard of munt broken up end he organization of Federal troops stopped. The members of what was called the southern Rights party also took the alarm at what they regarded us a violation of the neutrality of the State, and were violently excited by it. The public mied in a partion of the State was highly influed, and on outbreak seems winchester, Tenn. The assessination had been planned by the rebel bushwhackers, who were fully posted as to the movements of Gen. Mc-Cock's brigade.

The Newbyille Union new inethy proponees it. the name is synchomens with belligerent patriotmove the troops, and also a commissioner t Nashville and Richmond to obtain from the au horities there a pladge to respect the neutrality f the State. The commissioners on the sem ay were selected, and agreed to act. This wa Saturday, August 17th, and on Monday, the 19 h, we started for Washington. I was told no Saturday, that a meeting of the Southern Rights gentlemen was to be held for consultation in Scott county the next day, and was levited to attend. I did so, and met a number of gentlement there, most of whom were evidently uninmen there, most of whom were evidently usin formed of what the Governor had determined t do. The only object of the meeting, as I suppose t the time and have always since helieved, was o consult upon what should he done in regard to he troops which were organizing in the State to other object was avowed, nor had I any reason o believe that any other existed.

In the consultations that ensuad, the course but the Governor had determined to adopt was made known, and by general consent, it was acreed to awalt the result of the missions; and, if they fuiled, to look to the Legislature, then about to assumble, to prevent the organization of he troops and to preserve the neutrality of the steto. I thick some of the gentlemen also determiord, by public meetings which they would address in various points in the meanwhile, to bring the public sentiment to hear in attentie-ting the legislative ection; though whether this was agreed to in the general conference, or mere-ly by the parties themselves in separate conver-calions, I do not distinctly remember. It is not within my purpose to correct or deny mseting. Scarcely nny of them are trua. But I mast distinctly state that no plan was adopted or proposed, no purpose was avowed, and nothing said or dine iedicating it to be within the objects of the parties to use either domestic insurrection or foraign invasion for foreing the State out of the Unlon. I certainly mass would have notificited in such ainly never would have participated in such a edign or consented to it. I accepted my mission with reference to no such ulteriar perpose. And performed it with the sole object of endayorperformed it with the sole onjector each even-ng, in good faith, and in concert with eminent Julion men, to procure the removal of the troops, and so to preserve the peacy of the State and its freedom to act at this eventful crisis eccording to its own uncentrolled will. If those efforts

As illustrative of the circority of these dispo-citives, I may state that, after the return of the Commissioners, having prepared a report to the Govarnor, which, among other things, informed him of an intimation made by the President that the troops at Camp Dick Robinson were intended the frops at camp Dick Raminous was intended to be used in penetrating fennessae, I promptly aed willingly struck that out of the written reprivation in the suggestion by my colleague that might provoke invasion by the Confederate, or excite domestic violence. And I gave him at the cume time a private statement of the fact to be used in conference with members of the I aid.

used in conference with members of the Legisla ture

I have the permission of the Governor to state also that, after our return, I advised him, in laying the subject before the Legislature, to pledge himself to carry out in good faith the plicy that they, then recently chosen, should adopt for the State. The Gavernor (perhaps wisely) detarmined that it would not be discreet for that beind thisself in advance to the action of the legislative body; but the advice not the less demonstrates that neither was I myself, nor did I consider bim to be, a part cipant in any design, used in conference with members of the Legisla strates that neither was I myself, nor did I con-sider bim to he, a part cipant in any design, present or ulterior, of subverting the public will he relations of the State as conclusively settled y the action of that Legislature, and that, ac-While among the wounded on the State of Maine, yesterday, we stopped by the stretcher of a fine looking fellow, and it quired about his wounde. "Shot through the shoulder, sir; bones broken, but am getting along very wall. Do you hack to my regiment as soon as I can; I want to have another chance at the reb ls."

"What regiment do you belong tt?" "Twentieth Indiana," ho replied, "out you have ant heard of us among so many other regiments; we were the only 'Hosier' regiment in the week's acttle before Richmond, but we did our work in the rear guard and whipped the rebels every time they attacked ns." Said I, "Your State is rais-ing eleven new regiments and six batteties more for the war. "Is eb? I knew it! I knew it! God hiess the Hoosier State!" he exclaimed, while his eyes lighted with fresh fire, and his wan bunacisted face flushed with thoo quickened nto action. "I knew it, sir; there will never be any need of drafting in Indiana. We went into his war to save the Union, and every man in ur State will volenteer to uphold the cli Stars our state will volonteer to uphold the cit stars and Stripes end crush out this rebellion."

Finding that he was becoming too carnest for his welfare, and perceiving that he wasnearly exhibansted by excitoment, I graspod his hasd and hid good by. He was a true type of the noble men of the West. His regiment numbered some 1900 men when it left Norfolk for the Army of the Returner well drilled healthy and hearty. They

John M. Stokes & Son. - We invite attention o the advartisement of John M. Stokes & Son, extensive dealers in military goods. They have for selethe celebrated "Henry Rifle," which can is fired by an expert man sixty times in a Favor's patent camp and hospital cots, which are said to he the hest in use.

KENIUCKIANS! The military crisis of this mighty struggle for he preservation of our country is upon us, and the isanc, under God, rests with the heaviest buttalions. If we would save the republic, we must array in its behalf the largest army. And we must save the republic, or we and our children and our c'illdren's chil Iren to the latest generation will be alternately the slaves of anarchy and of deepotism. If the republic falls it will everwbelm in its ruins the liberty and the hope of as ell. It is at this juncture, Kentuckians, that, comfolding your firm ides and your altars and the loved ones who worship round them and all else that men and oltizons hold dear, that, in this hour of her extremest peril, summons you to the field. Can you, dare you, turn a deaf ear to her call? JOSHUA TEVIS.
